The systems above, are our premium deck finish products. They generally require a little extra prep work, however the results can be stunning. Maintenance is always important with these systems simply because decks tend to take so much abuse. Whether it is the sun, snow, rain, pets, and even patio furniture being dragged across, they handle more traffic and harsh elements than any other wood around your house. With all these systems, coating all six sides of the wood ensures their long lasting beauty, and durability. All contain translucent iron oxide pigments and added UV absorbers for excellent UV protection and clarity.
